Jaw Dropping Inventory Levels A Key Risk to Retailers:

<https://www.zerohedge.com/economics/morgan-stanley-says-jaw-dropping-inventory-levels-key-risk-retailers>

VIA JUDY RREPUBLIC NOTES: “Future of Walmart, the largest grocer in the USA, was portrayed in a video called “20 signs Walmart is Falling Apart Before Our Eyes.” Walmart cancelled billions of dollars in orders because of a glut of inventory that is not selling as expected. Walmart grocery prices rose 21% in one year so people are shopping elsewhere. The supercenters are suffering the most since people are going to convenience stores instead of to the supercenters. Walmart is the largest employer in the USA but is cooling off on seasonal employment. That is a sign that corporate America is preparing for a recession. Walmart is laying off corporate employees. They have shuttered 26 stores in 17 States in the last two years. Walmart has closed hundreds of stores temporarily in the last two weeks. More than 200 stores have no set date to re-open. Hurricane Ian closed a lot of stores. 16,000 workers have been laid off recently. Amazon is on track to overtake Walmart this year as to become the largest retailer in the USA. The economy is in collapse according to an expert named Howard Davidovitz. As the US consumers go broke, so do the largest retailers.”
